

SCA Member Forum Posting Policy Agreement

SCA Member Forum is a private website limited to persons who are paying members of Saddleback Christian Academy. All members shall be given SCA Member Forum website access.

The following guidelines shall be adhered to by all members posting on the SCA Member Forum website:

1. Posts, and any associated website links, shall not promote that which is inconsistent with the SCA Statement of Faith or that which is inconsistent with a Christian worldview.
2. Members are expected to exemplify graciousness in what they say and how they say it (see Ephesians 4:29). Topics of controversy are allowable discussion on our website, but great care for the feeling of others should be exercised when conversing about sensitive subjects, for example:
 - Homeschooling philosophies/methods
 - Exiting or returning to public school
 - Political convictions
 - Parenting styles
 - Worship styles
 - Personal modesty/dress standards
 - Entertainment standards
3. Mean-spirited posts or reactionary, argumentative responses to posts are unacceptable. If you find yourself in strong disagreement over the content of a post, consider these biblical reactions: be slow to anger (Proverbs 16:32); be willing to overlook an offense (Proverbs 19:11); be willing to let the sharpening words of another sharpen you (Proverbs 27:17); acknowledge that everyone, including you, sins and falls short of God's standard (Ephesians 3:23); be quick to forgive as Christ forgave you (Colossians 3:12,13).
4. No business soliciting is allowed (Tupperware, Avon, etc.). However, classified or for sale information which benefits member families may be posted.
5. Prior to copying any information from the SCA Member Forum to an outside source, you must obtain permission from the original poster or a site administrator.
6. Children of member families are not allowed to post, however parents may post on behalf of children who want to share appropriate content.
7. No posting of copyrighted material unless you have permission to do so.

All posts are subject to periodic review by the SCA Board Members and site administrators. If a member has posted unacceptable content, the member will be asked by a site administrator to delete their posted content or the site administrator may delete the posting at their sole discretion. If the same member continues to post problematic content, member status will be changed to guest status (i.e. no posting privileges/site-viewing privileges only).
